COURSE DESCRIPTION

This programme in India offers a unique curriculum that allows students to choose a combination of core and elective courses, ensuring that each graduate is specially trained in a range of subjects and making them more appealing to recruiters. While more difficult fields provide students with in-depth training in subjects such as business, accounting, and field-specific training. Candidates will be able to choose a specialty in addition to their degree, making them specialists in the field of commerce. Any business activity is dependent on money, and proper financial transaction management is critical to the enterprise's long-term success. Accounting can be defined as the proper management of a company's financial transactions through the use of a book or entry system.

This has increased the industry's demand for qualified students with a business background. A master's level accounting and finance programme strives to address industry demands by transforming master's level students into professional and qualified individuals. The course achieves these goals through its vast syllabus and broader covered area, which provides students with a 360-degree comprehension of the concepts and principles.
